Apr 7, 2018 Tom Clancy's HAWX: Save Game (100%, all planes, level 40, all missions for gold, Air Force General). This is a GameFAQs message from “Jay” and “JayJayz”, developers of HAWX, it is used to display information on what a player’s level is, what other accomplishments they’ve achieved in the game and with whom they’ve become friends. “H.A.W.X” is a game developed by John K. Byron (also known as “byron_byron”), the author of “Flight Simulator 2004”, “Flight Simulator X”, “Advanced Flight Simulations X” and “Advanced Flight Simulations”. The “H.A.W.X” game was created in the year 2004, and it is intended for play on Microsoft Windows. The “H.A.W.X” game allows the player to be a virtual pilot in a United States Air Force combat situation. While flying missions, the player will be able to destroy enemy aircraft, helicopters and surface to air anti-aircraft units. Jay and Silent Bob, two sarcastic men and former best friends, are both credited for the “H.A.W.X” game. All four characters in the game were created by the character designer Matt Morrow. He had previously designed characters for the video game “Microsoft Flight Simulator 2004: A World of Wings”, as well as for the cartoon series “Family Guy”. Both Jay and Silent Bob have played the “H.A.W.X” game, and they have gained all the achievements that can be earned. Description – H.A.W.X: ⑨[Ⓜ]
