Ferguson Township voters defeat Chris Anglin for Township supervisor Ferguson Township's longtime supervisor Chris Anglin lost his bid to retain his spot on the board by a large margin on Tuesday, Nov. 6. With 54 percent of the vote, Anglin, a Republican, placed in second place behind John Gabrenes who, with 40 percent of the vote, placed in the top spot. Doreen Wirth was in a very close contest with Gabrenes, but only garnered 20 percent of the vote. The three seats on the Ferguson Township Board of Supervisors are split, 3, 2, 2. As for the November general election, several township residents will be seeking new seats on the board. On the ballot, there will be three seats on the board. One will be voted upon in the primaries and the others in the general election. Voter turnout was low, with only 10 percent of the township's 2,303 registered voters casting their ballots. Voter turnout among the 10 precincts was similar, ranging from 7 to 10 percent. Nationally, voter turnout in the 2008 presidential election was 41.1 percent and in the 2012 presidential election was 36.1 percent, according to the U.S. Census Bureau. The first position is up in the June primary election for the second year in a row. In the November general election, two seats are up for election. According to results released by the Democratic Party of Missouri, Republican incumbent John Gabrenes, who is the current township supervisor, would most likely retain his seat on the board. Both candidates, Gabrenes and Doreen Wirth, have a
