“We’ve enhanced our match engine with the largest dataset of its kind,” said David Rutter, Senior Gameplay Engineer for FIFA. “HyperMotion creates authentic-looking, real-life hyper-reality movements for players, while still maintaining the unique and authentic feeling of FIFA.

We’ve also integrated system-wide AI with the match engine, ensuring a more intelligent opponent that will challenge your skills on and off the pitch.” Each player receives a unique animation, which reacts realistically to each individual’s movements and provides a far more accurate representation of the player’s virtual self. When used with the player image, it provides an even more lifelike immersion for the player. New Shortcuts from the Player FIFA 22 introduces a new set of quick-access controls for players to react and perform actions faster than ever before, creating more opportunity and consistency for attackers to pull off amazing goals and for defenders to intercept shots on goal. Player Retouching: AI-controlled players will be able to retouch their movements, readjusting it the moment they receive a new marker on their virtual self. Player Boost: Offers a player the chance to hold the ball as long as they want, gaining a boost from the boost button, giving them an edge. Time to Flick: The touchline player will be

Co-ordinator Evolution: Players can enter the play with the tactical flexibility and freedom to call upon the press or play down the line, as needed. Off the Ball: Players can now play the ball off their feet, adding a new dimension to their touch and movement, while attackers can use the new run and cross to stay on the run even while the ball is out of play. Goalkeeper Reaction: Keeper's will now be able to catch the ball out of their area, reacting to the movement of the ball and players in much more believable, intelligent ways. Players can also take possession of the ball if the keeper attempts to catch it before they receive it from an offside position. Motion Capture in the World The data collected from real-life player movements, tackles, aerial duels and on-ball actions are used to power the new HyperMotion Technology. The effortless blend edition introduced the largest update to the game since the release of FIFA 18. What are the fundamentals of FIFA? The main concept of the FIFA series is to portray realistic gameplay. Although the series has always had the gameplay of real football in mind, FIFA 2014 added the ability to also control the AI or human-controlled player (HCP) in the game. FIFA 18 was the first FIFA game to have a feature called Play the Match, allowing players to play matches with either the HCP or the AI in many different game modes. FIFA 19 was the first FIFA game to include a match engine called "FIFA Soccer 09". The match engine allowed gameplay to be advanced from the moment a player touches the ball. Gameplay improvements have been implemented in the latest games to make gameplay realistic and realistic-looking. For example, as of FIFA 19, the players' animations and movement in the goalmouth are more realistic and natural than before, and touch for crossing is now more accurate. Every goal in the game has been worked on and adjusted to have a more accurate animation and a more realistic bounce when the ball hits the goalpost. For the first time since FIFA 08, FIFA 19 and FIFA 20 includes the player positioning on the pitch accurately. Dribble and powerful shots are just as accurate as they have been in the previous games. FIFA 20 also includes an accurate and realistic pass and dribble animation, and players are more motivated to make smart decisions when attacking their opponent.
